Extremely Cold Temperatures Have Not Yet Reached Record

Temperatures locally have been below freezing for half of the first 16 days of this month according to records of National Weather Service local observer John E. Scott.

Even though temperatures have been extremely cold for most of the month, the record low for a January has not yet been reached. That record was set in 1930 when the temperature dipped to minus 20 degrees during January. The following year, 1931, registered the second coldest temperature to date for a January with a minus 15 reading.

The coldest reading so far this month was minus 9 degrees which was recorded on the early morning hours of Tuesday, Jan. 11. The highest temperature recorded this month was on Jan. 8 when the thermometer spiked to 39 degrees.

The highest temperature ever recorded in Murray during January was on Jan. 16, 1952, almost exactly 25 years ago, when the mercury rose to 76 degrees.

This month has set a new record for January in total snowfall, however. Snowfall for January thus far has totaled 13.6 inches according to Scott's records, with snow falling on five different days.

The records for this month show that 1.5 inches of snow fell on Jan. 2-3, 2.8 inches on Jan. 6, 5 inches on Jan. 9, 3.1 inches on Jan. 10 and 0.2 inch on Jan. 16.

The most snow recorded previously in a January on records dating back to 1889, was the 9.8 inches that fell in January of 1951.

The most snow ever recorded in Murray in a single month was in 1960 when 19.2 inches of the white stuff fell during the month of March.

Last night's low, which many forecasters had predicted, would reach minus 15 degrees, was officially recorded as minus 6 according to Scott. Sub-zero temperatures have been recorded on two other dates this month, Scott reported: minus 9 on Jan. 11 and minus 1 on Jan. 16.

Scott said that the total precipitation for the month to date totals 1.93 inches, including all the snow and one rainfall.

Scott's weather measurement includes the span from 6 p.m. one day until 6 p.m. the next.

The National Weather Service has predicted that temperatures would remain in the 0 to 15 degree level today and would drop below zero again tonight.

Records Fall, Power Fails As Kentucky Shivers Under Winter

By The Associated Press

Records fell and power failed today as Kentucky shivered under its worst winter in years.

Natural gas shortages added to the numbing problem, caused by a frigid blast of arctic air hanging over the state.

The Kentucky Division of Disaster and Emergency Services, activated by Gov. Julian Carroll, helped about 30 families find temporary shelter overnight.

Columbia Gas of Kentucky asked customers in a seven-state area to set thermostats at 65 degrees in an attempt to conserve fuel.

The mercury skidded to an all-time low of -24 degrees at Covington, five degrees under the previous mark, while Henderson was hit with a reading of minus 21.

The thermometer registered 13 below at London and also at Louisville, where it was the coldest temperature in 14 years. A 60 year record for this date fell when the reading reached minus 12 at Lexington.

Power outages were widespread.

Kentucky Utilities Co. said several hundred customers lost electricity in the Georgetown, Paris, Versailles areas because of line faults blamed on the weather.

KU also reported trouble in Boyd County during the night, particularly in the Summit and Shopes Creek areas. Initially, 3,000 to 4,000 customers were without service but the number later dropped to about 500.

Electric power also failed in portions of Oldham County, with outages being reported in the Lake Louisville, Centerfield and Crestwood sections.

There were failures in portions of Campbell, Kenton and Pendleton counties, and the southern and western sections of Frankfort.

The Louisville Gas & Electric Co. said it had some isolated outages but most were quickly corrected.

Many Pikeville business firms closed today to conserve natural gas after pressure dropped to one and one-half pounds per square inch.

The Hazard Gas Co. also experienced a pressure drop, prompting the company to ask customers to set their thermostats at 68 degrees.

Many schools across the state also were casualties of the weather and failed to reopen.

The governor placed DES on round-the-clock operations Sunday and it went into action almost immediately as homes began losing electricity.

The National Weather Service predicted temperatures would remain in the zero to 15 above level today, then tumble below zero again tonight.

As the mercury plunged, the possibility of the Ohio River freezing over rose.

"This weather certainly increases the odds of the river freezing over," said Martin Pedigo, a spokesman for the Army Corps of Engineers. Pedigo added that a reduced volume of traffic slowly negotiated the river Sunday.

Pedigo added, "If you get a solid freeze, traffic just stops and everything comes to a halt."

The arctic-like weather also glazed highways, froze automobile engines and caused dozens of schools to close again today.

In addition to placing DES on 24-hour footing, Carroll asked Kentuckians to stay in their homes during the unusually frigid weather unless traveling was absolutely necessary.

"A lot of people get out on the road in this weather and they get stranded when they have no business being out there," said John Nichols, the governor's press secretary.

Nichols said that state police have increased their patrols on Kentucky's primary highways, "thus improving the chances of stranded motorists being spotted and assisted."

Calloway Football Is Discussed Sunday

A small but enthusiastic crowd braved frigid temperatures and slick roads Sunday afternoon to discuss the future of Calloway County football.

The meeting was held in Jeffrey Gymnasium at Calloway County High School.

On hand for a question-answer series was Murray State football coach Bill Furgerson.

The county board recently recommended a football program for the county school system. All three county schools would have seventh and eighth grade football while the high school would play jayvee ball for two seasons before beginning the varsity level in the fall of 1979.

"The first thing you have to know is what it's going to do for your people," Furgerson told the Laker football boosters.

Furgerson said that most of the county fans were avid basketball fans. He went on to add that football usually compliments the other athletic programs in a school.

"If a young man participates in football, he will be better in basketball, baseball or track," Furgerson said.

"Football offers so many opportunities to those kids who aren't skilled in shooting the ball through a hoop," he added.

Furgerson said one of the biggest problems in the nation today is that everyone is a spectator.

"We need to become a nation of participants and not a nation of spectators," he said.

Furgerson said football was the "last great fortitude of the disciplined life."

"A kid might come home from practice and talk about how rough it was, about how much they had to run and about how long they had to practice."

"But they love it. They really love the discipline."

Furgerson said Murray State

University will contribute about 150 pairs of silk game pants for the Lakers to use in their program along with some other things.

Also, the University of Tennessee at Martin has given Calloway some football equipment.

The estimated cost for establishing the football program is $25,000. Thus far, about $8,000 of that total has been met through contributions.

"The cost is not important when you consider what it can do for the kids," Furgerson said.

"But let me point out one thing. One item you don't fool around with is headgear. Spend some money and get good headgear."

Furgerson went on to add that playing high school football today is much safer than playing "sandlot football on a Saturday afternoon."

Cohoon Files For Sheriff

Gerald Cohoon, Route Eight, has filed his candidacy papers for the office of sheriff in the May Democratic Primary, according to the office of County Clerk Marvin Harris.

Cohoon has served for the past several years as deputy in the sheriff's office, and resigned earlier this month in preparation for the sheriff's race.

Planning Commission Will Meet

The Murray Planning Commission will meet in regular session tomorrow night at City Hall.

Included on the agenda will be letters of request to the hospital board and Murray State University to attend future meetings; North 15th Street closing; traffic impact study for the university area; final plat review of the Clarence Horton Subdivision No. 3; report on building for 1976, and presentation of the building map; a public hearing request on West Olive; and an update on the 12th Street study.

The meeting will begin at seven p.m.

Weather Finally Makes Impact On Energy Supply

By The Associated Press

Weeks of frigid weather have finally made an impact on Kentucky's energy supplies.

Record-breaking low temperatures Sunday night and today caused numerous power blackouts around the state, leaving thousands of homes without electricity, and also threatened natural gas supplies in some localities.

With temperatures near 20 below zero in some areas, power outages were reported Sunday night in the Bluegrass region near Lexington, Oldham County near Louisville, northern Kentucky near Cincinnati, Boyd County and in Frankfort.

"Asked how many calls he had received from people who had lost electric service, a state police spokesman at Frankfort said, 'How high can you count?'"

Except for the power loss near Lexington, outages were caused by unusually heavy demand for electricity.

Pressure in Pikeville's natural gas lines fell from 24 to six pounds during the night, prompting officials to broadcast pleas on local radio stations for residents to reduce thermostat levels to between 60 and 65 degrees.

A spokesman for the state Division of Emergency and Disaster Services, which was placed on round-the-clock operations by Gov. Julian Carroll, said pressure jumped back to nine pounds shortly after the pleas were made.

He added that though the situation appeared to be under control, a Pikeville school was prepared as an emergency shelter.

Leslie Combs, city manager of Hazard, asked all of that eastern Kentucky city's residents to turn their thermostats down to 65 because of a pressure drop in the city's gas lines.

An official with the Columbia Gas Co. of Kentucky, George Goodykoontz, asked the company's customers to reduce thermostats to 65 degrees "due to the extreme temperatures and the

Rodent Bait Distribution To Begin Here Today

Distribution of rodent bait starts today at the various centers in Murray and Calloway County, according to officials of the Calloway County Health Department which is sponsoring the rodent control program in cooperation with the Kentucky Department of Agriculture.

Two thousand pounds of rodent bait has been mixed and is free to anyone in the city or county who needs to use it to control rodents around homes and farms.

Distribution centers are the Health Department and Electric and Water Office in Murray, Crawford's Shell at Lynn Grove, Dees Bank at Hazel, New Concord Grocery at New Concord, Usrey's Grocery at Kirksey, Bucy's Market at Almo, and Blackford's Grocery on Highway 94 East.

Membership Announced For State Advisory Commission

Senators Walter Dee Huddleston and Wendell Ford and the Kentucky Bar Association recently announced the membership of a non-partisan advisory commission that will make recommendations for federal judgeships in the state.

The nine-member federal judicial selection commission of Kentucky consists of six persons, selected by the senators, and three individuals designated by the bar association's board of governors.

Named to the commission by the senators were: George Joplin, of Somerset, who is president and managing editor of the Commonwealth Journal and the recently installed president of the National Newspaper Association; Elbert C. Hawes, of Ft. Mitchell, a Covington attorney; Dr. John T. Smith, of Lexington, the vice president for minority affairs at the University of Kentucky; Dr. Mary K. Tachau, of Louisville, chairperson of the department of history at the University of Louisville; Rev. W. W. Slider, of Louisville, pastor of Christ United Methodist Church; and Mrs. Donna Terry, of Princeton, an attorney.

Representing the bar association on the commission are Henry D. Stratton, of Pikeville, the organization's president; Francis T. Goheen, a Paducah attorney; and Marshall P. Eldridge, a Louisville attorney.

The commission was created to screen all applications and also actively seek out qualified prospects to serve on the federal bench. When a vacancy does occur, the commission will consider all applications and then recommend from three to five persons for appointment.

The senators will, in turn, submit all those recommended by the commission to the President for his consideration. The senators said the commission is

Kathie Broach Is Second Runner-Up

Kathie Broach, freshman recreational major at Murray State University and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Broach of Murray Route One, was selected as second runnerup in the 22nd annual Miss Kentucky County Fair contest held Saturday at the Galt House, Louisville, in conjunction with the annual Kentucky Fair and Horse Show Convention.

Named as winner of the contest was Daphne Futrell, Miss West Kentucky Fair, who was crowned by the 1976 Miss Kentucky County Fair, Gale Broach, senior social work major at Murray State University and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Broach of Murray Route One. First runnerup was Bambi Lynn Troutman, Miss Cumberland County.

Gale was also named as Miss Congeniality in the state contest last year.

Miss Kathie Broach who won the second runnerup honor entered as Miss Murray-Calloway County Fair Queen. Third runnerup was Kim Birdsong, Miss Trig County, and fourth runnerup was Sheila Bruce, Miss Lawrenceburg County.

Fifty-four girls were entered in the contest and they were judged on both swim suit and formal dress competition. The personal interview judging was at the banquet held on Friday evening.

Among those from Murray present for the final events on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Broach, Terry Broach, Juana Stockdale, Bob Wilder, Bobby Cornelison, Mr. and Mrs. George Hodge, and Mr. and Mrs. Van Waugh.

Close the Doors After Adoption

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for voting for the right of the biological parents to remain anonymous if they wish. I suppose some biological parents would dearly love to be reunited with the child they gave up, but for me it would be traumatic.

I was 14 when I gave up the child I had conceived by my stepfather. That part of my life was a nightmare, and the day I signed away my legal rights to the baby I really did not want, I knew that I had done the right thing.

When the child is 18, I will be 32, and by that time I hope I will be married and have a child by a man I love. Abby, I'm writing this because I want adopted children to realize that in most cases, they are better off for having been given up for adoption. And they should be grateful to their biological mothers, who had the good sense to give them to parents who wanted them.

I closed a door I never want opened.

FLORIDAN

DEAR FLORIDAN: I applaud your mature and sensible philosophy. Read on for another excellent letter from another reader who shares your view:

DEAR ABBY: There is a group here in Colorado that calls itself "Adoptees in Search." They are trying to force legislation that would allow adoptees access to their birth records—complete with the names of their biological parents.

As a woman who gave her child up for adoption, may I express my view? If adoptees want to change the law from this time forward, fine. But when I left my child at a home for unwed mothers, they assured me that my records would forever be confidential and no one—and certainly not my child—would ever know who her biological parents were.

Other unwed mothers may feel differently, but I have no desire to intrude myself into the life of the child I gave up years ago, and I feel it would be best if that child did not come into my life.

I was promised that my records would remain forever closed. And if they are ever released to anyone, I will sue the home for violating our agreement!

CLOSED BOOK

DEAR ABBY: I am 21, have never been married, but have a beautiful 9-month-old baby. His father has never seen him and probably doesn't care to.

The problem is, I still live at home and we usually go for walks around my neighborhood. Usually I run into people I knew in high school. When we talk, the person almost always asks, "Who is the baby's father?" This always embarrasses me, and I don't know what to say.

What should I tell these rude people? Also, what should I tell my son when he asks, "Where is my father?"

I love my son so much that sometimes I wonder if it was fair to keep him. But he's a happy child, and I know he's glad I did.

UNWED MOM

DEAR UNWED: Answer to the curious friends: "He's someone you don't know and lives elsewhere." As for your son: "Your Dad and I separated long ago, and I don't know where he is."

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Married 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Otis Jones

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Otis Jones of 214 North Thirteenth Street, Murray, will observe their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Wednesday, January 19.

The couple was married January 19, 1927, in the Presbyterian Church Parsonage, Highland Park, Mich., with Dr. R. M. Crissman officiating. Their attendants were Bessie P. Jones and Cletus Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones are members of the Grace Baptist Church.

No formal celebration is planned.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR TUESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1977

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Skepticism could defeat the fully charged action this day deserves. Believe in yourself and in your goals — and keep forging ahead.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Stellar influences now favor novel pursuits, imaginative revitalizing of all interests. Display your talents in marketable areas.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Avoid being led astray by those who are heedless of consequences. You will face more distractions than you think, so keep up your guard.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Express your ideas and opinions discreetly but firmly. Don't leave stones unturned which may have gems beneath. A generally good day — if you cooperate.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You rarely imitate, preferring to produce in your own way. However, this day will require more attention to others' methods and know-how.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A conservative and prudent attitude will keep you from going overboard through misguided optimism — a tendency now. Be especially cautious in romantic matters.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Stars warn against vacillating, changing plans or projects before they have been given a chance to prove their worth. Be steadfast, optimistic.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Great activity indicated in your area — which should prove highly stimulating. Especially favored: business interests, community projects, travel plans.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Personal relationships should be most congenial now. In fact, some of your brighter and more amusing companions could give you some stimulating ideas.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Place your confidence in hard facts rather than "feelings" and, in discussions with others, don't be overly imaginative. You could read too much into their words.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Though many avenues to advancement exist, you COULD throw a wrench into the machinery if your attitudes are suspicious, your approaches tactless. Beware!

PISCES

Sensing The News

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN
Executive Vice President
United States Industrial Council

TODAY'S TOPIC: THE SELF-HELP ROUTE

HARRIGAN

The very real problems of the Northeast states require study and action. Unfortunately, the signs are that they will be treated in the style of handout politics.

Something called CONEG has been created. CONEG stands for Coalition of Northeast Governors, but it is a one-party outfit that has failed to attract the support of James Longley, Maine's independent chief executive, or New Hampshire's Republican Gov. Meldrim Thompson Jr.

One can understand why Govs. Longley and Thompson have avoided CONEG. The members of this coalition have adopted the cry-baby position that their region is the victim of "planned neglect."

According to Neal R. Peirce, columnist for the Washington Post, the Northeastern governors of the CONEG group have come up with "proposals to equalize energy costs between regions, set up a multi-billion dollar energy and development corporation with federal guarantees for its bonds, reverse the rapid flow of military bases and contracts to the Sunbelt, enact tax inducements to get industries to expand or relocate in the Northeast, and revise manpower, transportation and welfare policies to benefit the region."

In other words, the CONEG governors want new federal handouts and bailouts for their region and preferential treatment by Washington. None of this is necessary or desirable.

In New Hampshire, Gov. Thompson has demonstrated the effectiveness of old-fashioned economy. As M. Stanton Evans, chairman of the American Conservative Union recently pointed out, Gov. Thompson "has held the line on spending, fought excessive government regulation and opposed adoption of major statewide taxes." As a result, Mr. Evans said, "New Hampshire is an oasis of development in an otherwise depressed economy." The number of workers in New Hampshire has jumped more than 20 per cent in six years. The state's population is up 10 per cent in the same period.

If the other Northeastern governors adopted Gov. Thompson's approach, they would find solutions to the problems they face. Furthermore, solutions would emerge very rapidly if the CONEG governors were to declare support for the right-to-work principle.

One of the principal reasons the Northeastern states are in economic trouble is that their industries are retarded by powerful unions which hike costs beyond reasonable levels and weaken management's control of production. In addition, many of the unions in the Northeast are closely linked to syndicate mobsters.

Improved law enforcement is one of the "must" items in the Northeast. The need is for strong action against hoodlum elements and street criminals that terrorize many urban areas. It is curious that the CONEG group of governors fails to take advantage of opportunities to request new federal action to break up alliances between organized labor and organized crime.

The Northeast has great advantages. It has tremendous financial, educational, and research resources. It has a highly skilled population. The answer to its problems lies in self-help, not in increased federal grants or federal guarantees for bonds.

The old Yankee spirit of self-reliance is the best and only way to build a better future for the Northeastern states.

HEARTLINE

HEARTLINE is a service for senior citizens of all ages. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write HEARTLINE, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. Senior citizens will receive prompt replies, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I seem to remember something in your column last year concerning smoking. Did you have something on this? If so, can I obtain a copy of this? T.F.

ANSWER: Heartline did have a column about the harmful effects of smoke on the non-smoker. Your copy of this column is now on the way, and if anyone else is interested in obtaining this information, write to Heartline — Smoke, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. Please send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HEARTLINE: Do I have to take Medicare out at age 65? If so, am I penalized if I do not?

ANSWER: No. For 98 per cent of the people reaching age 65, however, hospital insurance is available without any premium payment. There is no penalty for not signing up for hospital insurance other than that you will lose free coverage.

Medical insurance requires a monthly premium. The penalty for not signing up when you are first eligible is that the premium goes up 10 per cent for each year you could have signed up for it, but did not.

For a complete understanding of what the Medicare program covers, Heartline has developed a book called "Heartline's Guide to Medicare." This book covers the entire Medicare program and also has a sample claim form with complete instructions on how to fill it out. This book is in easy-to-understand, question-and-answer form with large print.

To order, send $1.50 to "Heartline's Guide to Medicare," 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. This book is completely guaranteed — if not satisfied, please return and your money will be refunded. Please allow 30 days for delivery.

need of assistance of another person? P.W.

ANSWER: Yes. Veterans so severely disabled as to require the regular aid and attendance of another person may be entitled to additional payment of $133 per month if receiving a Veterans Administration pension and $159 per month if receiving compensation. Veterans receiving compensation for 100 per cent rating due to unemployment are not eligible for aid and attendance benefits.

The Editor's Notebook

By GENE MCCUTCHEON

Murray Ledger & Times Editor

It's hard to get the old typewriter cranked up again after being away from it for a couple of days. Actually, we haven't been completely away from it but we have been spread pretty thin between the hospital, the house, the grandparents' house and the office, while our second child was arriving at the local hospital.

Mother and daughter are both doing fine. The only "problem" we've run into so far is in choosing a name for the baby girl. Our four-year-old had his own idea for a name which, naturally, was not the same name we had picked.

He thought about it at length, however, and came up with his own solution to the problem while we were eating dinner the other night.

"Daddy," he said, "you and mamma can call the baby what you want to, and I'll call her what I want to."

She'll probably grow up with two different names (by the way, the official name is Jill Suzanne) but the four-year-old's solution seems workable and sensible, especially to him.

O+O

Gary Gilmore is dead. He finally got his wish and was executed by a firing squad at 8:06 MST (9:06 CST) this morning.

We don't care to eulogize Gilmore's life. It has ended. We just wish that chapter in our country's history book would now be closed. But we know promoters are going to leap at the chance to package his life story into paperbacks, movies and whatever else looks like it would make a profit.

But what of Max Jensen and Ben Bushnell, the two Christian family men who were slain by Gilmore. We think it would be more appropriate, although probably not as profitable, for a producer to do a movie on their lives and the effect their murders have had on their families.

Q+O

The inauguration of James Earl (Jimmy) Carter on Thursday of this week will cost the country's taxpayers an estimated $2.5 million (the inaugural podium itself will cost us an estimated $325,000). And the tv networks will be spending another $5 million to cover the inauguration and its associated activities.

That's a total of $7.5 million being forked out for the ceremony marking the changing of power in our nation's Capitol.

Not that we're knocking the extravaganzas, especially the tv expenditures. The networks apparently can afford to spend the high sums in view of NBC's recent $250,000 per minute price tag on Super Bowl commercials.

But in an attempt to put the government expenditures for the inauguration in perspective, we'd like to offer a few comparative figures.

The total budget for the City of Murray for the coming year amounts to $1.4 million. At that rate, the $2.5 million the government is spending on Carter's inauguration is enough to run the local government for almost two years.

The $325,000 being spent on the podium Carter will stand on to take the oath of office would be a good start on Murray's $375,000 budgeted expenditure for the Fire Department for 1977.

Or, put another way, the estimated property taxes for the city of Murray for 1977 which total $410,000, are barely more than the amount spent on the platform and hardly make a dent in the $2.5 million spent on the inaugural.

We think a simple, dignified ceremony in the Oval Office of the White House would be sufficient for the inauguration. Then, if individuals or political parties or anybody else, for that matter, want to spend lavish sums on parties and parades, that's fine.

And here's the kicker. Carter's inauguration is said to be less expensive than any other president's in recent history.

Think about it.

Statehood Rates A Long Look

President Ford's proposal that Puerto Rico be admitted as the 51st state came as a surprise. The two men who would be most intimately concerned with actual implementation of statehood — President-elect Jimmy Carter and Carlos Romero Barcelo, Puerto Rico's new governor — reacted cautiously.

That's a good approach. It would be an error for anyone to overreact. President Ford is aware that any decisions on statehood for Puerto Rico will not be made during the days that he has remaining as President. He also knows that those decisions will be made by the Puerto Ricans. His proposal, therefore, undoubtedly was prompted by a desire to "get on the record" his support for the Republican platform plank on Puerto Rico.

The GOP platform supports full statehood for Puerto Rico "if that is the people's choice in a referendum."

On that score, the proposal should be helpful to Mr. Carter. In the Caribbean, and elsewhere in the Third World, the U.S. offer can counter claims that the United States wants to remain a "colonial power" by conferring only second-class status on its associates.

President Ford's offer also will serve as a warning to Fidel Castro in Cuba that the United States takes its responsibilities in the hemisphere seriously. Castro's attempts to subvert other nations should be weakened.

And finally, the offer of statehood for Puerto Rico certainly will provide a debating point for Andrew Young, who will be the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations in the Carter administration. The United States has been the target of a continuing but unwarranted attack in the U.N. by radicals who insist that we are suppressing the Puerto Rican people.

President Ford made the statehood proposal in good faith.

Let's Stay Well

Chest Pain From Rib Injury

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Q: Mrs. S.J. writes: "My husband, 55 years of age, has had emphysema quite a while, which is better since he stopped smoking."

"Not too long ago, he caught a chest cold which brought on severe coughing. He developed sudden pain in the upper left side of his chest. We feared that he had had a heart attack. We were greatly relieved that his physician found a rib broken by coughing."

"I never heard of such a thing. Does it happen often? Will he be likely to have fractures occur in this rib in the future from coughing?"

A: First, I congratulate your husband on stopping smoking. It aggravates emphysema.

Rib injuries from coughing are not a rarity. They heal in a few weeks, and a fracture does not mean that another one is more likely to occur at a future time. As a matter of fact, the callus formed during healing actually increases the rib strength at the fracture site and lessens the chances of a recurrence at the same place.

This cause of chest pain was first described many years ago by a German surgeon, Alexander Tietze, and it is also known as Tietze's disease.

The injury usually occurs in the front portion of the rib where the bone and cartilage join. Pain and soreness are noted at the point of injury.

Similar rib injuries may be caused by a hug, by carrying a heavy load or by pressure against the rib cage, such as when reaching over the front seat of an automobile. Pain may not come on for a while until the injured site swells from the bruising and slight bleeding into the injured area.

Because other serious diseases, such as a heart attack, may cause chest pain, Tietze's disease may cause apprehension and concern until a diagnosis is made.

Usually, medicine for cough or pain relief is sufficient. Local heat or cold over the tender area is helpful. Reassurance that the condition is self-limiting and not serious relieves the anxiety.

Figuring Taxes Is More Difficult This Year

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the first in a series of five articles entitled "Coping With Your Income Tax." They were written to help taxpayers prepare their 1976 tax returns.

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of Americans will find it a little more difficult to figure their federal income tax this year, but many will find the tax saving worth the extra effort.

For some groups of taxpayers, especially the elderly and those parents who have to hire a babysitter in order to work, tax-filing will be somewhat easier than in the past.

The changes come about because of tax legislation passed by Congress in late 1975 and in the fall of 1976. Several other changes in the law will become effective when taxes are filed in 1978.

Three major changes affect most taxpayers immediately:

—The $30-per-person tax credit that was voted in 1975 to help pull the economy out of recession has been increased to $35. Since a credit is subtracted directly from taxes owed, this means that a family of four could reduce its tax bill by $140. But now there is an alternative:

Whether or not you itemize deductions, you may subtract either $35 per person or 2 per cent of the first $9,000 of taxable income, whichever is larger. (Taxable income is total income after the $750-per-person exemption and all deductions, whether standard or itemized, have been subtracted.)

Most persons with taxable incomes of $9,000 or more would select the 2 per cent credit, which would mean a $180 tax cut. The exception would be families with six or more members.

—The second across-the-board change is a hefty increase in the standard deductions, which are available to those taxpayers who do not itemize deductions.

The new minimum standard deduction, designed to ensure that a person pays no tax until his income reaches a certain level, is $1,700 for a single person and $2,100 for a couple filing a joint return. But that is only the minimum; you are allowed a standard deduction of 16 per cent of total income, but no more than $2,400 if you are single and no more than $2,800 if married.

—The third — and most visible — change will allow 90 per cent of Americans to use a tax table to see at a glance how much tax they owe. The new table is condensed into three pages, compared with the 10 pages last year, and covers all taxable income up to $20,000. (Changing the table will have virtually no effect on anyone's tax liability.)

The good news is that most taxpayers will not have to use the "tax-rate schedules," which require you to compute taxes owed by multiplying a tax rate by income above a certain amount. And there is no longer a different tax table for each family size.

The bad news is that typical taxpayers will have to compute taxable income by subtracting the $750-per-person exemption and their deductions from total income. However, the IRS will compute this for you in certain circumstances.

After finding the line in the tax table that includes your taxable income, the only question left is whether you are single, married and filing a separate return, or married and filing a joint return. Find your taxes under the column heading that fits you.

But an important caution: That figure is NOT what you owe. To get the bottom line you still have to subtract your across-the-board credit — either $35 per person or 2 per cent of the first $9,000 of taxable income.

NEXT: Who should itemize?

A large majority of the complaints come about because the customer or the businessman just don't understand some agreements that are reached between them, Stamm said.

The area in business that generates the most complaints pertains to automobiles, new and used cars and auto repairs. Following these closely are home repairs.

The estimated 4,300 complaints are ones that have been filed with attached information. "We must have had a million telephone calls from persons complaining, but we don't record these unless they file later in writing," Stamm said.

Bill collectors using threatening statements are not as big a problem as some people might think, Stamm explained. Harassment "doesn't seem to be much of a thing" in this field, he said. A Federal law prohibits harassment and threatening tactics, but this hasn't been much of a problem in Kentucky.

"Misunderstanding on the part of the borrower as to his obligations causes a lot of the problems," Stamm said.

More than 50 per cent of the complaints are solved or resolved or settlement reached, Stamm said. "Some people just don't understand their legal obligations under loan or credit arrangements," he explained. "People are obligated to pay their just debts."

The Consumer Protection laws were passed in 1972, and the division funded at the beginning of July of that year.

Complaints on "bait and switch" advertising have been registered with the state, but these have been readily settled by reaching agreement with the merchants involved. Some of this comes about because advertisements for some chain stores are prepared in other places, and not checked thoroughly enough by the local store manager.

One example is advertising an item not in stock. If a store has a very limited quantity of the item advertised, it is the responsibility of the manager to state the number of items in stock on special sale.

One of the biggest headaches Consumer Protection had last year and still in the process of settlement is farm cooperatives.

Four cases are presently pending in court, Pat Stallard, head of the fraud division said. Farmers were taken for about $1.5 million on sale of stock in these cooperatives.

Kentucky United Farmers Association of America peddled $50,000 in stock to Kentuckians. The firm is no longer in business.

Commonwealth Farmers Association sold $200,000 in stock to Kentuckians. The case is still pending in court. It was forced into receivership and its assets were sold. Stallard said the assets brought in about $50,000, but there is $150,000 in creditors' claims against this. "The stock buyers in this won't realize any restitution," Stallard said.

The triple I cooperative, Interrelated Industries, Inc., a beef plant coop, took Kentuckians for the largest sum, about $1.3 million in stock sales. The case is now being actively litigated, Stallard said.

His advice to investors or potential investors is "investigate before you invest."

FARM REVIEW & FORECAST

Breaking Ground.....

.....Commentary On Issues And Events

Written By Gary Huddleston
Ky. Farm Bureau Federation

Young farmers — those age 30 and under — will hold the spotlight during a three-day Young Farmers Conference in Louisville later this month. The conference is being sponsored by Kentucky Farm Bureau, and more than 200 participants from around the state are expected to attend. It will be held at the Breckinridge Inn, Jan. 28-30. An additional highlight of the meeting will be a 25th anniversary banquet for the Kentucky Farm Bureau Scholarship Foundation. The foundation, begun in 1953, has distributed more than $100,000 in scholarship grants to college students who graduated from Kentucky high schools.

Currently, the foundation awards $7,000 annually to winning high school seniors. A typical year finds from 75 to 100 applicants for the five scholarships available.

Other young farmer conference activities will include tours of two Louisville-area factories, an address by UK College of Agriculture Dean Charles Barnhart and seminars on farm financing and tax laws affecting farmers.

President-elect Jimmy

Carter's choice of Rep. Bob Bergland as the new secretary of agriculture has drawn generally high marks from the presidents of the Kentucky and American Farm Bureaus.

KFB President Bob Wade said he is optimistic that Bergland's background as a working farmer, plus his service as a U. S. representative from Minnesota, will give him the necessary expertise to be an effective secretary of agriculture.

Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau, said Bergland's selection has merit, and noted that his broad experience in the private and public sectors, including tenure on the House Agriculture Committee, should serve him well in carrying out the agricultural policies adopted by Congress.

Wade, who had previously endorsed Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner Tom Harris for the secretary's job, said he hoped Bergland would keep the needs of Kentucky farmers in mind as he fills the various posts in USDA that affect this state's commodities. One of those sensitive posts is the director of the tobacco branch, a job many feel should be given to a Kentuckian.

On a less positive note, Wade expressed concern that Bergland may tend to favor the return of government-held reserves of grain. Wade noted that Farm Bureau is firmly opposed to re-establishing such stockpiles, since surplus grain should be left in the hands of the farmers who grew it.

Grant also questioned Bergland's views favoring "relatively high farm commodity price supports," but said he expects the new secretary to "carefully re-evaluate his position before recommending such a policy change in view of the success of the market-oriented farm program of recent years."

Increase Pasture Profits Through Renovation

Pasture renovation is here to stay
by Warren C. Thompson

All across the pasture belt, farmers are beginning to rely more each year on renovation as a system to produce forage. Why? They feel they can "have their cake and eat it too." Renovation means they can get more quality forage cheaper, and "quicker" than any other method currently available.

Traditionally, renovation has meant seeding legumes into an old grass field that has been torn up by thorough disking, field cultivating or heavy tramping by livestock. In recent years, however, some livestock producers have started using a modern approach utilizing specialized tillage equipment and chemicals.

Why all this sudden interest in renovating? It's a matter of needing more quality forage, at relatively low costs. Both beef and dairy producers in increasing numbers are turning to renovation on their rough land where pastures do better than any other crop. It's also a matter of economics. When a farmer starts with a good stand of grass fertilized properly, tills and adds legumes, production jumps. The cost of such renovation is small compared to the extra feed produced. When seedlings with such legumes as red clover and ladino are made in late winter and early spring, farmers have seen production double or even triple while producing a vastly superior feed.

To get the best results next spring, action is called for now. As soon as frost hits fescue, sugar content jumps and cattle find it irresistible. So that is the time you should put large numbers of cattle on fields that are to be seeded next spring. Stocking rates should be adjusted with electric fencing to get 10-15 animals per acre. The grass should be nubbed so that tillage in January or February is easier and the seedbed more uniform.

This is also an excellent time to take soil samples and have them tested. Then, as soon as the weather will allow, apply the needed lime, phosphate and potash so that when seeding time comes all that will be necessary is to smooth the seedbed and sow the seed.

Here's another tip. The USDA has recently noted that there will be a 14% shortage in red clover seed this year. So if you are going to renovate, you'd better "book" your seed early with your local seed dealer if you are going to use red clover and ladino, a very popular and highly recommended combination. The seeding rate should be about eight pounds of red clover and one to two pounds of ladino per acre.

Remember, an early renovated, fertilized, well-established red clover/ladino grass pasture will produce as much feed as a grass pasture with 200 pounds of nitrogen an acre applied annually. And if you figure the average cost of a ton of ammonium nitrate at $110, that's $33.00 an acre. When you renovate, your out-of-pocket costs will be less than this and the seeding will last two to three years.

It's no wonder farmers feel that pasture renovation is here to stay. They like the results they continue to get. Your results will be excellent too if you start now and use quality products each step of the way in your pasture renovation program.

Training Set For 200 New Federal Grain Inspectors

ATLANTA, Ga. — Two weeks of special training has begun in Houston, Texas, for 80 new federal grain inspectors, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Until Jan. 26, the 80 trainees — employees of USDA's Federal Grain Inspection Service (FGIS) — will receive intensive instruction on grain inspection and weighing under the U. S. Grain Standards Act of 1976.

A similar two-week training session is set to begin Feb. 8 in Houston for another 120 FGIS recruits, many of whom are still in the process of being hired. The 200 new employees will participate in formal on-the-job training for at least two years before qualifying as journeyman inspectors, FGIS officials said.

The special training in Houston is part of a wider effort to staff the Federal Grain Inspection Service and implement the U. S. Grain Standards Act of 1976. As a result of the new federal grain law, the FGIS was established in USDA Nov. 20, the day the legislation went into effect.

Previously, grain inspection was the responsibility of the grain division of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS). About 780 AMS grain division employees involved in inspection and standardization activities were "transferred" into the Federal Grain Inspection Service Nov. 20. Of those, more than 400 were sent to Houston for special training in 1976.

Within the next 18 months, the number of FGIS employees, which now stands at 900, is expected to increase to 2,600. An estimated 2,100 employees will be stationed at field offices around the nation, and will handle new federal inspection and weighing duties assigned to the Federal Grain Inspection Service in the 1976 Grain Standards Act. The remaining 500 will be based in Washington, D. C., performing a variety of functions, including management, standardization, applied research and compliance.

Individual Retirement Accounts
Today's Plan for Tomorrow's Security

WHAT IS AN INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT?

An Individual Retirement Account (IRA) is a personal tax-sheltered retirement plan. It was developed by Congress to bring to every American worker the opportunity to build a more secure future for himself and for his family.

Corporations have long been permitted to establish retirement plans for their employees. As long as a plan met certain requirements, employer contributions to the plan were fully tax deductible. Likewise, employer contributions on behalf of an employee were not currently taxable to the employee. He was taxed on his share of the plan only when he received it.

Since 1962, tax deductions for contributions to a retirement plan have also been available to self-employed persons. In that year Congress determined that these persons, too, should be allowed a tax-sheltered method of saving for retirement. The result was H. R.-10, a law which allowed the self-employed to make tax-deductible contributions to a pension or profit-sharing plan.

While corporate and H. R.-10 plans covered a substantial portion of the working population, a large number of workers still had no tax-sheltered means by which to supplement Social Security. Recognizing that Social Security alone is inadequate, especially in times of inflation, Congress has now provided for Individual Retirement Accounts for those not covered by other plans. Amounts set aside in an IRA may be placed in a trust or custodial account with a financial institution such as ours. They may also be invested in an annuity or endowment contract, or qualified retirement bonds.

We would like the opportunity to discuss with you, first hand, how such an account might benefit you.

Meat Packer To Serve Jail Term

ATLANTA, Ga. — James Austin Fraley Jr., president of Fraley Packing Co., Thurmont, Md., will begin serving an eight-month federal penitentiary term Jan. 19 for selling unwholesome meat, the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has announced.

Fraley exhausted his appeals procedures Jan. 5, and U. S. District Judge Howard F. Corcoran ordered him to serve the term at the federal penitentiary at Allenwood, Pa.

Fraley, who previously operated two retail meat outlets in Washington, D. C., was originally convicted Dec. 2, 1975, on 44 charges of illegal transportation of meat across state lines, selling decomposed meats that had been washed and reconditioned and operating an unsanitary plant after it had been suspended. He was sentenced to two to six years in jail, but the sentence was reduced during the appeals procedure.

TRYING FOR THE TIP — It was a night of almosts for the Racers against Tech Saturday. Here, both John Randall (21) and Danny Jarrett (55) almost managed to tip in this missed shot. Four or five times in the game, the Racers missed tips like this one.

(Staff Photos by Mike Brandon)

John Randall Helps Key Racers Past Tech 73-65

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor
John Randall proves a lot of things.

First of all, he proves that anyone with desire can be a success. John Randall grew up in six different foster homes.

Another thing John Randall proves is that in order to be a great basketball player, you don't necessarily have to be a prolific scorer.

Randall's unbelievable passing and his superb defense were among the few bright spots in the 73-65 win Murray State scored over Tennessee Tech Saturday night before a crowd of 6,800 in the Sports Arena.

Murray State made 32 turnovers in the game, got outrebounded and yet won by eight points.

"If we had played like that last year against Tech, we would have lost by 10 or 15 points," Racer coach Fred Overton said.

"We weren't sharp. But regardless, it's a win and we're glad to get it. At one time or another during a season, every club is going to have a game like that," Overton added.

Randall's passing antics keyed two Murray State spurts, one in the first half and one late in the game, and those two spurts proved to be the downfall of Tech.

Randall's first gem came with 2:42 left in the first half with the Racers leading 24-22.

Randall, who looked like Julius Erving on the play, soared into the air from the free throw line and sailed toward the basket past three Tech defenders. He ripped the ball inside to freshman guard Duncan Hill who happened to be under the bucket and Hill hit the shot and was fouled. Hill missed the free throw and Tech went down and scored and again, it was a two-point lead at 26-24.

Again, Randall went sailing. This time, he faked a pass and floated through the lane for a layup for a 28-24 lead. But again, Tech countered with a bucket and again it was a two-point Racer lead.

Randall hit a free throw to make it 29-26 with 1:52 left then Jimmy Warren came up with two consecutive steals which led to buckets by 6-4 sophomore forward Tom Leffler. With one second left in the half, freshman Lenny Barber sacked two free throws and at intermission, Murray led 35-26.

Mike Muff, the leading Racer scorer on the season, sat out the final eight minutes of the first half with three fouls. Muff's 15-footer with 14:13 left in the game boosted Murray to a 50-39 lead and it seemed as if the Racers were about ready to put it together and blow Tech out.

It didn't work that way. Turnovers, missed easy shots and generally poor play plagued the Racers for the remainder of the game.

Midway through the final half, Tech had cut the Racer lead to only three points at 52-49.

Enter Randall again. With 5:33 left in the game, it was still a three-point Racer lead at 58-55. Grover Woolard hit a 20-footer jumper to push the lead out to five and then Randall snapped the crowd to attention with one of the prettiest moves of the season.

Randall came down the middle of the lane, went up off the floor, switched hands and drilled a pass to an awaiting Mike Muff under the bucket and the Racers led 60-55.

Then came the prettiest move of the season. Randall came up with a steal near midcourt and drove for the lane. He flipped a pass with his left hand behind his back to Grover Woolard in the right corner and Woolard sent home a 20-footer. The crowd roared to its feet and by that time, Murray had a 68-59 lead and it was all over.

"Offensive is always a key to how you play defensively. Everybody we had was missing shots they normally hit. Tech is not that bad of a ballclub. They beat Mercer at Mercer, won over Western and led Middle by eight points before finally losing," Overton said.

"We ran our offense really well. We had good shots at the basket but just missed them," Overton said.

Muff and Woolard each had 17 points for the Racers as 11 players broke into the scoring column.

Muff had nine rebounds while Skeeter Wilson led the Racers with 11.

For Tech, Bobby Porter had a super game with 18 points and 16 rebounds. John Tatum added 16 points while Randy Hampton hit for 14 points.

Tech played without one of their top scorers, Alvin Adams who was out with an injury.

The Racers are now 10-4 on the season and the win betters last season's win total when Murray struggled to a 9-17 record.

In the league, the Racers are 2-4 while Tech falls to 6-7 overall and 1-2 in the league.

Tech is at Austin Peay tonight while the Racers continue their homestand by hosting East Tennessee which was blitzed 93-69 at Clarksville Saturday.

Knicks Use New Formula To Win, 76ers Roll Over Jazz

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Sometimes it pays to buck a trend.

Just when most coaches around the National Basketball Association are adopting a form of populism, using as many as 10 or 11 players per game and giving more and more playing time to their reserves, New York Knicks Coach Red Holzman decided what his team needed was a move in the opposite direction.

"We need continuity, and the way to get it is to leave the starters in a little longer," said Holzman, the dean of NBA coaches now in his 14th season.

The strategy worked. The Knicks' five starters meshed, turning in what Holzman called "the best game we have played in two weeks," as New York beat the Golden State Warriors 111-97 before a national television audience.

The Knicks had begun a six-game road trip, with embarrassing lopsided losses at Portland and Seattle, dropping below the 500 mark, and needed the win at Golden State to stop the slide.

Each of New York's starters played at least 40 minutes and the five accounted for all but seven of the team's points. Walt Frazier scored 24, Jim McMillian 22, Earl Monroe 21, Bob McAdoo 20 and Lonnie Shelton 17. McAdoo also had 17 rebounds.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Philadelphia 76ers routed the New Orleans Jazz 97-76, the San Antonio Spurs beat the Indiana Pacers 122-115, the Boston Celtics trounced the New York Nets 106-91, the Denver Nuggets defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 109-101, the Atlanta Hawks upset the Portland Trail Blazers 125-120 and the Chicago Bulls beat the Milwaukee Bucks 102-83.

76ers 97, Jazz 76

Henry Bibby scored 21 points and led a 26-4 second-quarter spurt that carried Philadelphia to its seventh victory in the last eight games. Bibby, playing nearly 45 minutes, held NBA scoring leader Pete Maravich to 22 points, seven below his average.

Spurs 122, Pacers 115
San Antonio jumped to an 18-point halftime lead and then held on to snap a four-game losing streak.

Larry Kenon scored 32 points and Coby Dietrick added 20 for San Antonio, while Billy Knight poured in a season-high 43 for Indiana.

Celtics 106, Nets 91
The Nets suffered their 10th straight defeat, a club record, as Boston took the lead for good with nine consecutive points during the second period.

Nuggets 109, Sonics 101
Denver raised its record to 29-12, tops in the NBA, by posting its fifth straight victory and snapping Seattle's six-game winning streak. Dan Issel and David Thompson combined for 30 points in the second half for Denver, Issel finishing with 23 and Thompson 22.

Hawks 125, Blazers 120

Atlanta scored its final 10 points from the free throw line in the closing 2:36. A pair on free throws by Ken Charles with nine seconds to go clinched the victory.

Bulls 102, Bucks 83

Mickey Johnson scored 27 points and Artis Gilmore 20 as Chicago overcame a 50-47 halftime deficit to beat Milwaukee going away.

Standing On The Firing Line

By Mike Brandon
Sports Editor

Wild Scramble In OVC?

The game of the year, thus far, in the Ohio Valley Conference will take place tonight at Murfreesboro as co-leaders Middle Tennessee and Morehead tangle in a battle of undefeateds.

Morehead trounced hapless Western Kentucky Saturday in Bowling Green to the surprise of absolutely nobody. Middle Tennessee crushed Eastern Saturday, also to the surprise of nobody.

For the sake of Murray State, Middle Tennessee should win the game on their floor. If Morehead wins that one, then it could be real trouble for the rest of the teams in the league because the only other games Morehead is going to find trouble in on the road are at Murray and Austin Peay, both in the second half of the league race.

Middle still must play at Morehead, Western, Murray and Austin Peay.

Both Middle and Morehead are solid title contenders. But Middle has been playing without guard Sleepy Taylor, who should be back in action Saturday when the Blue Raiders come to Murray.

Middle is much quicker than Morehead, who likes to set up and play slow and patient offense. Physically, the clubs match up well, though Middle has perhaps better leapers while Morehead has a bit more muscle.

If Middle should win tonight and Murray and Austin Peay also win then Middle would be 4-0 and in first while Murray, Morehead and Austin Peay would all be 3-1.

Saturday's games will find Western at Austin Peay, Tech at Morehead, East Tennessee at Eastern Kentucky and of course, Middle at Murray.

That simply means if Murray were to then win over Middle here Saturday, four teams could well be deadlocked with a 4-1 record in the league.

The top four in the final standings get to go on to the OVC Tournament at Clarksville.

By the time the first half of the schedule is completed, those top four teams could already be decided, but in no particular order though.

The gap between fourth and fifth will soon begin to widen as the season heads into the stretch.

Murray has the talent, Austin Peay the strength and Morehead the experience. Nobody is really sure what Middle Tennessee has.

A Bad Night

Like Fred Overton said, if Murray would have played last year like they did Saturday against Tech, the Racers would have lost by 10 or 15 points.

Everyone is going to have a bad game. Even Louisville and UK have games when they miss easy shots and make turnovers.

For those of you who were disappointed in what you saw Saturday, don't give up yet. Come back out tonight. The Racers are due for a good game and they'll certainly need it tonight.

Though East Tennessee was blasted at Austin Peay Saturday, they still have plenty of talent and are well capable of knocking off the Racers.

Murray had been getting three or four impressive slam dunks every game until Saturday. But Saturday, the Racers were doing well to hit layups, much less slam dunks.

So don't give it up yet. Like the old saying goes, "you ain't seen nothing yet."

Morehead, Middle Grab Easy Wins, Will Collide Tonight

By The Associated Press

Morehead's Andre Jones, who says he "loves playing" at Western Kentucky, will find out today how much he cares for playing basketball at Middle Tennessee.

Tonight's game at Murfreesboro will be a battle for first place in the Ohio Valley Conference and Jones is hoping he can perform as well against Middle Tennessee as he did Saturday against Western.

"I love playing at Western," Jones said after scoring 18 points and grabbing nine rebounds in Morehead's 81-65 victory. "I love the size of the place, and it's a thrill to play where they have a famous tradition, too."

Morehead, now 3-0 in the OVC and 7-4 overall, meets a Middle Tennessee squad with an identical conference record and a 12-2 overall mark.

Middle Tennessee had an easy time with Eastern Kentucky Saturday, jumping out to a 15-3 lead and winding up with an 86-71 victory.

The Blue Raiders' balance offense was led by junior center Bob Martin's 23 points.

Looking at tonight's showdown, Morehead Coach Jack Schalow said, "If we play our best, we're competitive with anybody. If we play less than that, any team in this league can absolutely wipe us out."

"We have to maintain a certain tempo. Rat racing — two passes and a shot — is bad for us, and standing around too much is bad for us too," he added.

In other OVC games Saturday, Mike Muff and Grover Woolard combined for 34 points to lead Murray to a 73-65 victory over Tennessee Tech at Murray.

Murray, 2-1 in the conference and 10-4 overall, scored the last seven points of the first half to open up a nine-point margin — its largest lead of the game. Tennessee Tech is 1-2 in OVC play and 6-7 overall.

Calvin Garrett scored 25 points to lead Austin Peay to a 93-68 victory over East Tennessee at Clarksville.

Austin Peay, 2-1 in the conference and 12-2 overall, sewed up the game in the first 9½ minutes by running out to a 22-4 lead. East Tennessee is 1-2 in OVC action and 5-8 overall.

In other OVC action tonight, Eastern Kentucky and Western Kentucky, both with 0-3 conference records, meet at Bowling Green and Murray hosts East Tennessee.

In other games involving Kentucky schools Saturday, Kentucky State, ranked fifth nationally in the NAIA, defeated Central State 81-79 when Gerald Cunningham hit a 35-foot jump shot with two seconds left.

Floyd Smith scored 42 points to lead Bellarmine to an 88-83 victory over Transylvania, Cumberland topped Georgetown 83-78 and Pikeville defeated Berea 100-84.

Sports In Brief

TENNIS
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Jimmy Connors turned back the challenge of Bill Scanlon 6-3, 6-3 to win the $100,000 WCT Birmingham International Indoor Tennis Tournament.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. — Chris Evert defeated Margaret Court 6-3, 6-4 to take the $20,000 first prize in an indoor tournament.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand — India's Vijay Amritraj defeated American teen-ager Tim Wilkinson 7-6, 5-7, 6-1, 6-2 to capture first place in an international tennis tournament.

AUTO RACING
RIVERSIDE, Calif. — David Pearson eased in front of Cale Yarborough with 17 laps to go and won the Western 500 for the second consecutive year.

HORSE RACING
NEW YORK — Apprentice jockey Steve Cauthen made thoroughbred racing history at Aqueduct Saturday when he rode five winners, setting an all-time record of 23 winners in one week.

BOWLING
ALAMEDA, Calif. — Steve Jones rolled six straight strikes to defeat Marshall Holman and win his first Professional Bowlers Association tournament.

SKIING
KITZBUHEL, Austria — Franz Klammer of Austria won his fourth straight World Cup downhill and Ingemar Stenmark of Sweden won the slalom. Klammer led Stenmark by four points in the Cup over-all standings.

THANKS JOHN — Duncan Hill (25) of the Racers scores two on this play after taking a superb pass through the middle by a flying John Randall who is out of the picture. Hill came off the bench in the first half and scored four points during a Racer flurry. Watching is Tom Leffler (23) who also scored four points during the spurt.

Wildcats To Have Hands Full Tonight Against Tough Gators

By ED SHEARER

AP Sports Writer
Florida's surprisingly strong start in basketball this season should not have come as a surprise.

It apparently didn't surprise Coach John Lotz, who said before the season opened, "Our team is better than it's been since I've been at Florida."

The Gators have reeled off 10 victories in 13 games and the defeats wouldn't embarrass a national power since they were administered by such outstanding teams as Marquette, Alabama and Tennessee.

Another powerhouse visits tonight when second-ranked Kentucky tangles with Florida in Alligator Alley, last of the cozy gymnasiums in the Southeastern Conference.

"There isn't much more to say for Kentucky that everybody hasn't already seen or read considering they are No. 2 in the country," Lotz said. "They have always had trouble here and we hope to give them trouble again this year."

Kentucky has lost on six of its last 10 visits to Florida and needs a victory tonight to stay on the coattail of No. 4 Alabama and Tennessee in the volatile SEC race.

Three other games are on the agenda with Tennessee at Mississippi, Georgia at Louisiana State and Vanderbilt at Auburn. Alabama and Mississippi State have open dates.

Saturday's full slate of action saw Alabama trim Mississippi State 65-63 for its 14th straight victory. Tennessee recorded its ninth in a row with a 108-102 decision over LSU. Kentucky downed Auburn 75-68. Florida crush Vanderbilt 83-72 and Ole Miss smash Georgia 82-62.

Alabama and Tennessee share the lead with 15-0 records, followed by Kentucky at 3-1 and Florida and Mississippi State each at 3-2. A Tennessee victory at Ole Miss would set the stage for a showdown of unbeaten in conference play at Knoxville Saturday when Alabama visits Tennessee. Other Saturday action has Florida at Auburn, Mississippi State at Georgia, LSU at Kentucky and Ole Miss at Vandy.

Reginald King hit a three-point play in the closing minutes and tallied 21 points to lead Alabama to its victory over Mississippi State.

Freshman Ricky Brown missed a 12-footer with three seconds left that could have forced an overtime. Gary Hooker led State with 20.

The Tennessee-LSU battle was a dream game for high-scoring enthusiasts. It produced the Vols' talented Bernie and Ernie Show, plus one.

The Marquette Warriors needed a shot to cure their offense — and they got it from Bo Ellis.

The bony forward, reluctant to pull the trigger in the first half, turned into an offensive tiger in the second and led the 11th-ranked Warriors to a 78-69 victory over No. 19 Notre Dame Sunday.

"Notre Dame cut him off at the pass in the first half," said Marquette Coach Al McGuire, "but it's pretty hard to stop him for a whole game. When we're in trouble, we go to Bo. That's what we tell ourselves in the huddle."

Actually, it was what McGuire told Ellis in the dressing room at halftime that inspired his scoring efforts in the nationally televised game. In so many words, McGuire ordered his star forward to fire whenever he had the chance.

"I've been very violent with Bo lately," McGuire said. "Bo has been good for Marquette University and good for Al McGuire, but he hasn't been good for himself. He's too nessee scoring with 33 points, Bernard King added 30 and Mike Jackson contributed 30. The top scorer, though, was freshman Durand Macklin of LSU, who had 40.

Jack Givens poured in 20 points, including three clutch baskets down the stretch, as Kentucky snapped a three-game losing streak in Auburn's arena. Eddie Johnson had 18 for the Tigers.

Bob Smyth scored 18 and four other Gators hit in double figures as Florida soared to a 23-point lead and then withstood a late rally by Vanderbilt, which got 21 points from Greg Fuller.

Ole Miss coasted to its victory over Georgia as John Stroud and John Billips each scored 20. Tony Flanagan had 14 for the Bulldogs.

Unknown Bruce Lietzke Captures Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Bruce Lietzke, a dramatic playoff winner in the Joe Garagiola-Tucson Open-Golf Tournament, had two chores to do today.

He has to rearrange his playing schedule in the wake of his first professional triumph. And he has to find his putter.

"Oh, my lord, stop it," he shouted as the tour official reeled off a list of events for which he'd just become eligible — the Masters, the PGA, the "Tournament of Champions."

"Stop it, please. I can't stand it."

"This opens up so much. The first thing I thought of was the Masters. But there's the Tournament of Champions, too. I'll have to rearrange my schedule — but I don't mind that at all. And there's overseas, too. I've got to think of that."

But Lietzke first must find the club that enabled him to beat veteran Gene Littler on the fourth hole of sudden death late Sunday afternoon and earn a $40,000 first prize. It's his putter, the one that stroked in a dramatic 65-foot birdie putt, easily the longest winning putt that has been holed in any tour event in a decade.

"I didn't even know if I got my putter back," he said. "I really don't know what I did with it, where it is. I've got to find my putter."

"I didn't see it go in, but I heard the crowd reaction. I went crazy. My mind went blank," said Lietzke, still trembling with emotion more than a half hour after he'd won.

Ironically, the cross-country putt he holed for the winner came on the 18th at the 7,305-yard Tucson National Golf Club. From almost exactly the same position on the same hole one-half hour earlier, Lietzke had three-putted for bogey, missing a five-foot second putt that set up the playoff with the 46-year-old Littler.

unselfish. It's a mortal sin. He's so talented, he has to score more points."

Ellis, shut out in the first half, scored 12 points after intermission to help the Warriors pull away from a close 31-26 halftime lead. His performance abetted the game-high point total of 27 by Butch Lee.

The Marquette-Notre Dame game was one of two Sunday involving ranked teams. In a contest Sunday night, the third-ranked Cincinnati Bearcats defeated the St. Louis Billikens 54-52 as Mike Jones and Eddie Lee scored four points apiece in the final six minutes.

In college basketball games on Saturday, top-ranked San Francisco blasted Los Angeles-Loyola 90-63; No. 2 Kentucky defeated Auburn 75-68; No. 4 Alabama whipped Mississippi State 65-63; No. 5 North Carolina defeated Duke 77-68; No. 6 Michigan routed Michigan State 83-70; No. 7 Wake Forest edged No. 17 Clemson 84-82; Purdue upset No. 9 Minnesota 66-64 in overtime, and Texas-El Paso shocked No. 10 Arizona 60-59.

Also, No. 12 UCLA outscored Stanford 100-86; No. 13 Louisville walloped Marshall 104-83; 14th-ranked Maryland tripped Navy 62-54; 15th-rated Providence hammered Hawaii 94-76; No. 16 Arkansas walloped Rice 72-45; 18th-ranked Memphis State stopped Florida State 81-75; and Washington State upset No. 20 Oregon 49-45.

Bill Cartwright and Marlon Redmond each scored 22 points to power San Francisco over Los Angeles Loyola, the Dons' 19th straight victory this season. San Francisco went on a 12-0 streak late in the first half to put the game out of reach.

Jack Givens scored three key baskets in the final six minutes to spark Kentucky over Auburn. Givens, who had a game-high 20 points and 13 rebounds, got the clutch points when the Wildcats slowed down their offense after leading 66-62 with 6:43 left in the game.

An alert defense and a 21-point performance by Reggie King helped Alabama beat Mississippi State. Tommy LaGarde's 22 points and 10 rebounds led North Carolina over Duke. The Tar Heels, who led 30-17 and then 43-32 at the half, had to turn back a late rally by the Blue Devils.

Michigan whipped Michigan State as Phil Hubbard scored 20 points and Joel Thompson 18. The Wolverines built a 52-30 lead at the half.

Wake Forest defeated Clemson on Rod Griffin's jump shot with one second remaining. Two free throws by Wayne Walls with 2:30 left in overtime snapped a 59-59 tie and triggered Purdue past Minnesota. The triumph was the third straight overtime victory for the Boilermakers over the Gophers, dating back to last season, and spoiled an unbeaten year for Minnesota. The Gophers had won 11 games before Saturday's loss.

Charles Draper's two free throws with seven seconds left lifted Texas-El Paso over Arizona. Marques Johnson's 27 points and 14 rebounds paced UCLA over Stanford. Phillip Bond and Darrell Griffith keyed a 17-4 first-half spurt that started Louisville over error-plagued Marshall.

Lawrence Boston and Steve Sheppard combined for 39 points, leading Maryland over Navy. Joe Hassett scored a career-high 31 points as Providence beat Hawaii. Sidney Moncreif's 22 points led Arkansas over Rice. John Washington and James Bradley combined for 41 points and 26 rebounds to lead Memphis State past Florida State. Stuart House scored 15 points and Harold Rhodes had 14 to pace Washington State past Oregon.

Pork Producers To Meet

The annual meeting of the Kentucky Pork Producers Association will be held on Saturday, Jan. 22, at the Executive Inn in Louisville.

A variety of topics important to the pork producing industry will be aired at the meeting, the program to start at 10 a. m.

Mack Whiteker, swine specialist of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, will be the moderator of the program. Some of the topics on the agenda will include the effect of environment on the performance of young pigs, the general herd health management, the outlook for the hog industry, the import of larger scale swine operations and waste handling systems.

Dennis Liptrap, another UK swine specialist, is the overall coordinator of the meeting. George Pettit, a swine producer from Princeton and the current president of the association, will preside at a business session for association members at 3 p. m., when an election of officers for the new year will be conducted.

A banquet Saturday night will be highlighted by the presentation of the 1977 Kentucky Pork Queen, the designation of the Kentucky Pork Cook-Out King and the naming of the "Kentucky Pork All-American."

A special service award will be presented and the 10 outstanding area pork producers will also be recognized at the banquet.

Nader's Air Bag Fails To Work

NEW YORK (AP) — When consumer advocate Ralph Nader paid a visit to "NBC Saturday Night," it was supposed to be all fun and games. But before the show got as far as the first commercial, he had discovered a defective auto airbag.

In one of the first comedy routines, Nader, the guest host, was supposed to embrace Laraine Newman, one of the show's regulars, and whisper a veiled suggestion: "Does your car have air-bags?" At that point an airbag — a safety feature being pushed by some consumer forces — was supposed to balloon from Nader's shirt.

The airbag had worked perfectly in four rehearsals, but fizzled on the live show.

"I think GM sabotaged it," Nader joked afterward. General Motors is the most famous target of Nader's efforts for the consumer.

The show opened with Nader in cowboy hat and sequins, telling the audience, "For 90 minutes tonight I'm just going to cut loose. I'm here to have fun. I'm Ralph Nader, Mr. Goodtime."

Earlier, he had told the crew that the makeup they wanted to put on his face "contained red dye No. 2 and can cause cancer."

On the way to wardrobe, Nader informed a cast member that the frankfurter he was eating might contain rodent hairs and rat excrement.

Then came the airbag snafu. Afterward, Mr. Goodtime told the audience he was happy NBC was treating him well despite the fact that his research group "has just sued them for $10 million for deceptive advertising." The camera promptly went out of focus.

Nader's jokes didn't stray far from his field. He was not involved in bits involving Puerto Rico becoming a "steak," TV anchorwoman "Baba Wawa" (a parody of Barbara Walters), televised executions or a sultry description of Rosalynn Carter's anatomy.

After the show, Nader said there was no reason he shouldn't take part in comedy. "Humor is everybody's birthright," he said.

He said he would do it again, "but only after corporate executives do it first."

As the rest of the show's entourage headed out for a party, Nader was still at his dressing room door, talking not with groupies but with parents and their youngsters seeking information on how to join his consumer organization.

Meadows Assigned To Illinois Base

SAN ANTONIO — Airman James S. Meadows, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Meadows of 730 Fairlane Drive, Murray, has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks training at Lackland AFB, Tex., the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Meadows will now receive specialized training in the vehicle maintenance field. He is a 1975 graduate of Murray High School.

Only 52 per cent of eligible voters cast their ballots in the 1972 presidential election.

The largest flood disaster on record in the United States was the Galveston tidal wave of Sept. 8, 1900, in which 6,000 people were killed, reports the National Safety Council.

Engine Repair
Course Opens At Vocational Center

Openings are still available in the Small Engine Repair course to start Tuesday, January 18, at 6:30 p. m. in the Trade and Industrial Department of the Murray Vocational Education Center, according to James Lawson, school principal.

The class will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30 p. m. for six weeks with Bruce Shaeffer as the instructor for the class. Registration fee is $5.00 and the textbook will be approximately $7.50.

Lawson said the fundamentals of small engine repair will be taught with actual work to be done on lawn mowers, tillers, etc.

The class on Auto Body Spot Repair will open tonight with Dan Harrell as the instructor.

Elrod To Be Installed

Leonard Elrod, a member of the McCracken County Board of Education, will be installed as chairman of the First Region of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA) during the annual KSBA Convention to be held at Bluegrass Convention Center in Louisville on January 22-24.

Elrod was elected chairman of the First Region last October in the annual meeting of the area school boards.

As regional chairman, Elrod will be a member of the KSBA Board of Directors, the governing body of the Association.

Lynn Grove Adult
Class Will Open

The Lynn Grove Adult Farmer Class will hold its first class meeting of the season on Tuesday, January 18, at 7:00 p. m. at the Murray Vocational Center.

Jamie Potts, teacher of adult vocational agriculture, said the class was scheduled to start last week, but was postponed due to the ice and snow.

Gilmore. . .

stayed rigid. He spoke to his uncle privately and to Moody, then Schiller and Stanger, who hugged him around the neck.

The warden then read a legal order. Gilmore looked directly at the warden without quivering.

"Gary looked up for an extended period of time and said, 'Let's do it,'" Schiller said.

"There were some emotional exchanges. A priest, a doctor and several other prison employees placed a hood over Gilmore's head. He was wearing tennis shoes."

"He did not move when the hood was placed over him," Schiller said. "We could not hear anything that was being said."

"All the prison personnel moved away. Father Thomas Mearns gave some rites to Gilmore before the hood was placed over his head."

"A circular target was placed on Gilmore's t-shirt. I think I saw the warden give the signal out of the corner of my eye. I heard three noises in quick rapid succession—bang, bang, bang. Gary's body moved. His head turned slightly to the left. Then slowly red blood emerged from under the black t-shirt onto the white slacks."

Schiller, a promoter who has rights to Gilmore's life story, added, "The body still had movement for approximately 15 to 20 seconds."

He said that as he left the execution site, the stretcher to remove Gilmore's body was coming forward "and no one looked back."

"Gilmore seemed aware of everything that was going on," Schiller said.

A screen was approximately 30 feet in front of Gilmore. Behind it were the five riflemen, one of whom traditionally has a rifle loaded with blanks so none is certain that he fires a fatal bullet.

"He did not put up any kind of a fuss or argument to my knowledge," Schiller said of Gilmore. He said Gilmore did not try to reject the black hood, though he had asked earlier not to have a hood.

He said he thought Gilmore was "very satisfied" that he was allowed to be "for an extended period of time in that room without having the hood over his eyes."

Shortly after the appeals court ruling in Denver, American Civil Liberties Union lawyers in Washington again asked the Supreme Court to delay the execution. Justices Byron White and Thurgood Marshall promptly turned them down, in succession. The full court then turned down the ACLU request.

In overturning the order of Judge Willis W. Ritter that the execution be stayed, the circuit court accepted arguments from the Utah attorney general's office that the death penalty had not been held unconstitutional. It also held that Gilmore had waived his rights of appeal.

Attorneys for the ACLU argued that the execution would be an illegal use of taxpayers' money in view of the uncertainty over the unconstitutionality of Utah's death penalty.

Judge Lewis, in closing remarks prior to deliberating, said, "Among other people who have rights, Mr. Gilmore has his own. If an error is being made and the execution goes forward, he brought that on himself."

exceptionally heavy demand throughout the seven states served by the Columbia system."

The power failure near Lexington left thousands of homes in Fayette County, Midway, Georgetown, Paris and Versailles without electricity for several hours; a Kentucky Utilities spokesman said.

The spokesman, Len Schrader, said power was restored within an hour to southwest Fayette County and Versailles. He said he expected the restoration of power to other areas before midnight.

Another spokesman said the outage occurred when a car hit a utility pole near the interchange of the Bluegrass Parkway and Versailles Road.

Both KU spokesmen said they didn't know exactly how many homes were affected by the power loss.

Portions of Campbell, Kenton and Pendleton counties in northern Kentucky were without electricity for about three hours, officials of the Owen County Electric Cooperative said.

Officials said power was restored by routing electricity from other substations.

The temperature in the northern Kentucky-Cincinnati area was around 20 below at the time of the blackout.

A spokesman for the Frankfort Electric and Water

Plant Board said that some several insulators had snapped, blacking out parts of the capital, including the area housing the governor's mansion.

The spokesman said that that several thousand homes were affected.

Power outages were also reported in Oldham County and Boyd County. In Boyd County, 4,000 homes were without electricity for several hours, a spokesman for the Kentucky Power Co. said.

One of those customers was the Federal Youth Offender Institution at Summit.

If we didn't hold down our own costs, we could hardly ask others to hold down theirs.

At Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky, we work very hard to hold down our own administrative costs. As a result of our efforts, year in and year out, we assure a high return of dues income to our members in the form of health care benefits.

And because we work hard to keep our own costs low, we don't hesitate to ask it of others. We work with doctors and hospitals to pinpoint the factors that affect the cost of health care and to help find ways to keep them contained.

You can help, too, by using health care services wisely. Don't ask for admission to the hospital unless your doctor says it's medically necessary. Perhaps you can get the treatment you need on an outpatient basis. If you are admitted, don't stay any longer than necessary.

If we all work together, we can help prevent unnecessary increases in the cost of health care.

THINK ABOUT IT!

By Kenny Ives

In the building boom of office buildings, banks, ball parks, stadiums, and civic buildings seen almost everywhere, a certain taken-for-granted type of building receives comparatively little prominence. Yet, this type of building does more than any of the others to strengthen the foundations of our culture.

Dwight D. Eisenhower gives tribute to these buildings in these words: "History records how the living ideas of civilization were saved and nourished behind a wall of books. Our libraries today serve the same cause, for the defenders of freedom must remain strong in mind and heart. From the famous metropolitan libraries of America to the modest bookmobiles that serve our rural areas, books guard the wisdom of the past and kindle the ideas of tomorrow."

Would it not be a good idea for more of us to make a visit to the place where history comes to life amidst the birth of new ideas - and express a sincere "Thank you" to the dedicated librarians who help make it possible?
